

Support for Logosynthesis® Training in Developing Countries

The LIA Donations Fund

The Logosynthesis International Association has created a fund to support the spreading of Logosynthesis in Third World countries: the LIA Donations Fund. It is fed from donations from those who want to support our work and is reserved for traveling expenses for Logosynthesis Trainers to developing countries.

Procedure

Persons who want to organize a Logosynthesis training course or program in their country can ask a LIA-Trainer to make an offer for a Basic or advanced training. Once the trainer and the organizer have agreed on the theme, dates and location, the trainer or the organizer can file a request for support to the manager of the LIA Donations Fund, Christin Aannerud. Requests are sent per mail to donations@logosynthesis.international.

In the procedure of the planning and execution the seminar the organizers take the responsibility for:

- contracts with the venue or seminar rooms
- the acquisition and billing of the group members
- welcoming and hosting the trainer, with local transport, meals and overnight stay
- a small amount in local currency for local costs of the Trainer
- translation and distribution of the seminar handouts.

The trainer is responsible for:

- planning the dates of the seminar and their own travel
- providing the content and presentation and the handouts of the seminars.

The Logosynthesis International Association:

- provides the funds to cover the trainers' travel expenses from the LIA Donations Fund.
- does not charge the trainer with copyright fee for the course.

Free E-Books

Individuals from developing countries can file a request for a book coupon, which allows them to download Willem Lammers' e-books on Logosynthesis on www.smashwords.com.
